ed. It is a characteristic, too, of which we are proud. No matter how bitter the warfare or how savage the recrimination, when anbmit and not a word more is heard of what so recently was a thunder of the most harsh and violent passions. We are now receiving Democratic sheets the most extravagantly bitter during the campaign -- and which are now making good humored jests at their herence to the will of the majority.

Wasaid this was a obaracteristic of the country-alas! it is only a characteristic now of the North. That portion of the Union South of Freedom seems to be deternained to break through the rule and make an exception. Certain charlstans are unwilling to submit to the will of the majority any longer, and while the Democratio party North is quiet in its fealty-there comes to us the bragadocio of these men who for the first time declare that a political campaign shall not end with an election.

We have returns from all the towns in Washington county. Douglas gets a majority of 1,825 and Larrabee a majority 1,728. The vote in the 21 Assembly District is as fol-

Occorto County Redetened.

Oconto, Nov. 8, 1860.

Massas. Editors:—Thinking that perhaps you might be anxious to hear of the result of the election in this wooden country, I will give you the result of the vote in Counto county, as far as heard from. All the towns have been heard from except Marienette, which will not vary the vote but little, as there are but about thirty voters in the town:

Lincoln, 472; Douglas, 233. Members of Congress-Sloan, 486; Larrabee, 216.
Members of Assembly—Finley, (Rep.)

598; Simons, (Dem.) 147. The county ticket is all hunk; the Re publican candidates ahead about 250. What B a change! The Democrats look very much down in the mouth. We have one old Demcorst in this county, and we think of stuffing his hide in order to preserve one sample of a race fast becoming extinct.

Yours respectfully, Edward Everett.

gives Douglas a majority of 369, and Larratee a majority of 367. These towns will not vary the result more than twenty-five votes. Whitney, Republican, is elected sheriff.

The facts are simply those: One member owning a harp, and another a violin, were invited to bring them on one or two occasions to play a few tunes, during a half hour's recess, with no view to dancing, even then. A few individuals, with no action or consent, or even knowledge of the Lodge, on one, or, at most, two occasions, engaged these musicians to furnish their music for a dance after meeting. The fact coming to the knowledge of the Lodge, has been promptly acted upon and forbidden, and will not occur again. The decision is made, both on the ground of propriety, and on the ground that the hall being bired for the sole and only purpose of holding the usual meetings of the order, they have no right to occupy it for several hours weekly, for a totally different purpose, with additional ed on Tuesday evening, Nov. 13, at half expenditure of gas and fuel, and wear of GOOD NEWSPAPERS .- The Peoples' Press of Saturday, devotes a leader to the above subject, and answers the question why there are not better newspapers in Milwaukee, by cause there is not public spirit enough among the business men to support a first class newspaper.

If, the Press says, Milwaukee will not compare with Chicago in its newspapers, we think it is because Milwaukes has a dozen newspapers to Chicago's six. Here's the seoret. Milwaukee does her duty to the prese; but she satggers under a perfect horde of editors and solicitors. Not to put too fine a point upon it we may say she is op-presses. If there were but two English dailies in Milpatronage, but, when the support is divided between so many, it is hardly fair to accuse our merchants with not being public spirited. If the editor of the Peoples' Press will attend a concert or exhibition, he will find a greater part of the house taken up with the regular editors and attaches of the news-

Mr. TAYLOR is a young man of "prime No. 1" business habits, and every way qualined for the position, and will doubtless succeed in making as many friends as the establishment has customers. KANSAS FAMING -Dr. FLETCHER, of Kansas, has arrived in this city, accredited from certain localities in Kansas to ask for aid for the suffering poor of that Territory. A gold medal was awarded the Company by the American Institute at New York in 19:7.

The Company also received the first premium—a gold medal from the Frankin Institute, Philadelphis, in 1513.

These Watches have now been in market for nearif ten years, during which lime they have been rested as to accuracy, durability, and reliability in every conceivable manner, and have proved themselves to be the most sath factory time-pieces ever effected. This result has been brought about by a strict amb result has been brought should by a state-application of mechanical science to the construc-tion of the Watch from its very inception, render-ing it when finished, mathematically correct in all its proportions, and necessarily as perfect a time-keeper as it is possible to make. The Company have tested their Watches in many Bastan Sent. 27, 1959. Mr. R. E. Bobbins, Treasurer Amer. Watch Co.: Dem St-lt gives me great pleasure to compy with your request for a report of the performance of the American Watch I purchased of you Dec. 2, 1855. It was set on that day, and the variation from true time to the 20th of February, 1859, when I let i run down, was ten second fast. From that time to the present, it has run with nearly perfect steadi-ness, having during the eight mouths remained at from seven to nine ecconds fact, and this with un commonly rough usage. I can commend your man utacture in the highest terms.

It was a bright, shiolog day in winter, and the prairie for miles around was covered two feet deep with show. The roads were in a splendud state for sleighing, and were in a splendid state for theighing, and pretry Lizzle Stanton, who stood by the sink washing dishes, was thinking and dreaming, and dreaming and wishing. It sho had a lover with great black eyes, and curly hair like a raven's wing, with a brow like a snow wreath, and a form like the poplar tree, and he would come flying along in a gilded steigh, with velvet cushions and downy firs drawn by great white borses. downy furs, drawn by great white horses in gilded herness, and on their backs would be saddle-cloths of szure satin, spangled and this remarkable individual was to rush in, kneel at her feet, and in thrilling tones commence a speech—which was interrupted by a knock at the door. Grandmother Stanton looked up from her keitting and told Lizzie that she had better open the door, that young lady being so far in dramland that the thought had not occurred to her. She gave her imaginary lover an answer that sent him flying away rather faster than he came, and opening the door admit-go with him to singing school that night at Four Corners. It was about three miles and nice roads—and if she would go he would come with his sleigh.

Lizzie was ready to jump for joy, but she looked very demure and replied she should like to go very much if grandmother was willing. Grandmother smoothed her knitting work on her knee, and said she had no objections, and if nething happened she inight go. Whereupon Allen took his de-parture, and Lizzie wiped her hands and narched up stairs.

You little know, gentle reader, the task i was for Lizzie to go up stairs, for I have neglected to inform you of the important personage sha had to encounter when she untered her room. Nature, and had been turned off with a thin, bony form, yellow skin, and a very wide month, and a perpetual cold in her head. I do not know whether nature is responsible for our dispositions, but if she does give them to us, I think Mary's must have been composed on a drizzly rainy day, for a more dismal, discontented, selfish mortal, I should not wish to meet. But to make amends for all deficiencies, she had given her an unlimited stock of impudence.

a woman; grand folks, too, I guess. How lucky it is that we are dressed. Do hear grand-pa. Who can it be? Come, let's go down."

Sue ran down stairs, and Lizzie followed. She ran down stairs, and Lizzie followed. She lingered just outside the door, and hoard grand-mother say:
"Here, Mason, this is John's daughter Mary. Mary this is your Unole biason, and this is your Annt Jane."
A tall handsome man was pacing up and down the room. You would know him for a soldier by the oarriage of his head, the symmetry of his form, and his martial step. He greeted Mary cordially, as the child of his brother and playmate, then led her to his wife. Irene shook hands with her, and Mary sat down.

Farmer Stanton married the widow Hodgers for his second wife, and 50, you see, she was step-mother to Lizzie's father, Harry Stanton, and his brother Mason. She had one son, John, who afterwards died and left his daughter to his mother's care; and thus it happened that these two girls lived at Farmer Stanton's. They were both orphans, both sixteen, and had equal claims upon the old peeple. But here the liksness ended. Lizzie was plump as a partridge, blythe as a robin, and happy as a lark. Her skin was like the inner leaves of a blush rose, her hair the deep brown tint the oak leaves wear in the late antumn—swept back from her brow with here and there a ripple, to reflect the sun, and nestled in a massive coil on the back of her head. "Well, suit yourselves, I've nothing to say; only if Mary don't go, Lizzie shau't."

Mary, at length, condecended to be coaxed, and the three started for the gate in a delightful (?) state of mind. Lizzie could have oried for sheer veration, as she took her seat in the little cutter, accretly large shough for two, amid oceans of Buffalo robes. She hardly spoke, and when she did it was to Allen. Mary made herself very agreeable—asking every little while if they didn't wish she was at home—which, with great self denial, they didn't reply to, and seying she was sure they would break

(From the Delroit Advertiser of Friday.) Cupt. G. W. Jones, of Cleveland, is building at Binck filter, Ohio, a sai ing vessel of four hundred and filty dess. Four similar vessels are being built at Cleveland. Testerday morning, about 0 clolock, as the tug lier was coming down St. Chair river, having in tow the barks Invincible, Olean Wave, and schooner Phalarche, the latter vissel, it is reported, carelessly shear ced into the schooner Telegraph, which lay at on the stream. The coffision carried away the Phal ed late the schooner Telegraph, which lay at anchor in the stream. The collision carried away the Phalacope's mainmast at the partners. She was towed to this york, where she is at present procuring a new spar. We received no particulars of damages to the other vessel.

Schooner Kyle Spangler is the topical schooner reported sank between Middle Island and Trander Hay, on Lake Huron. She was suak by a collision with the schooner Racine, the latter bound down and the former up. The Racine was towed into Presipe Isla by this prop. Buckeye, where she sunk in eleven feet in water. The toy Gowego left last evening with steam pumps and the requisite apparatus to raise the Racine and bring her to this port.

The brig Charlon, which a short time since ran on Shillagaleer race with a cargo of grain, has been abandonced, stripped, and is fast going to pieces. The prop. Bande left resterday afternoon with steam pumps and other spearins for raising the prop. Mohawe, such on the Clark. She also takes the cargo saved on to Defialo, its destination.

The prop. Maydower, during the recent blow on Lake Michigan, carried newly the transmount. No further damage done.
